From These Roots

"A unique tree was planted seventy-five years ago in a barren land. Many men eagerly took part in the planting." Thus wrote Dean Henry J. Howard in observance of the Diamond Anniversary of North Greenville Junior College.

The story of the college involves the planting, the beginning growth, the weathering of the storms, the grafting, the outreaching roots, the maturity, and the fruits. From the planting in 1892 of the tiny sprout, North Greenville High School, we see today the far-reaching growth, North Greenville Junior College.

"Growth and development was caused by men with a vision of a great need and with the courage and determination to put forth the necessary effort to meet that need."

"The flowers and fruit of a healthy, growing tree are a source of delight and satisfaction . . ."

*As a tree grows, so should the individual

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

For two years, she has been a friend as well as a teacher and advisor. Along with her help inside the classroom and genuine friendliness after class hours, she has brightened our school with her wonderful smile, extraordinary talents, and devotion to each student. She has caused much excitement at our school as she participated in the theater productions at the Greenville Little Theater, allowing the students to enjoy them also. Because she is a beloved part of North Greenville Junior College, the 1970 Aurora acknowledges Mrs. Margy O. McCall.

Administrators Direct Progress at North Greenville

Mr. Robert H. Green, chairman, breaks ground for the new dormitory for boys.

On January 9, Founders' Day, the Board of Trustees met at North Greenville. Five new trustees, elected at the November meeting of the South Carolina Baptist Convention at Charleston, joined the board which consists currently of twenty-five members. During the business session, the board re-elected Mr. Robert H. Green as chairman, the Reverend W. R. Barefoot as vice-chairman, and Mr. H. Preston Griffith, secretary. The Reverend James A. Crocker and Dr. Basil Manly, IV, were named to the executive committee.

The Board accepted with regret the resignation of the president of the college, Dr. Thomas L. Neely. Other action taken by the trustees included increases in student fees to about $1,530 per year.

James Crocker, Dr. G. Preston Edwards, W. W. Long, and Rev. Frank W. Abbott. Third Row: Rev. O. B. Lancaster, Rev. W. R. Barefoot, Preston Griffith, F. Stanley Mahaffey, and Robert H. Green, chairman.

PRESIDENT

After twelve years of service to North Greenville, Dr. Thomas L. Neely submitted his resignation at the January trustee meeting as President of the college, effective June 30, 1970. Dr. Neely's statement at that time was: "For over a year I have felt that God might be leading me into a different ministry." He will be giving his future time to preaching in series of meetings, leading prayer retreats and deeper life conferences, speaking at Bible conferences, and writing. However, his accomplishments at North Greenville can never be forgotten.

He was a member of the first graduating class of the junior college and returned to North Greenville in 1958 as Administrative Assistant to the President, Dr. M. C. Donnan. In August, 1962, he was elected President of the college upon Dr. Donnan's retirement.

The building program, begun in 1950, continued with major improvements made on existing buildings. Major buildings added to the campus in recent years are Foster Student Center, Tuttle Clinic, the President's home, and the new men's dormitory under construction.

Aiding Students Is Their Goal

Persons who keep the college running on a regular schedule every day are the Administrative Officers and the Staff Members. Under the leadership of Dr. Neely, the Administrative members work diligently to promote the standards of North Greenville and to help the students with any problems which they may have — academic or financial. Their solutions to many problems from day to day make them indispensable to the college.

Named in honor of the Reverend H. C. Hester, principal of North Greenville Academy from 1920-1928, the Hester Memorial Library contains over 21,000 volumes. During the first semester, the library expanded into three former classrooms on the second floor of the Donnan Administration Building, adding over 2,700 square feet of space.

The following collections are housed on the second floor: the periodicals, the audio-visual materials, and the books classified by the Dewey Decimal Classification System. Also, there is a listening area with earphones provided for individual listening to recordings.

The main floor of the library houses the Reference Collection and new books, classified by the Library of Congress System. The Reading Corner with current magazines and newspapers is on this floor. The Circulation Desk, the staff work areas, and the librarian's office are located on the main floor near the entrance to the library.

Instruction Planned for Business World

Students interested in entering a career of business immediately after graduation are provided terminal study by the Business and Commerce Department. Courses in accounting, economics, and law are offered on the elementary level. Also, students learn business correspondence, type-writing, transcription, shorthand, and the operation of business machines.

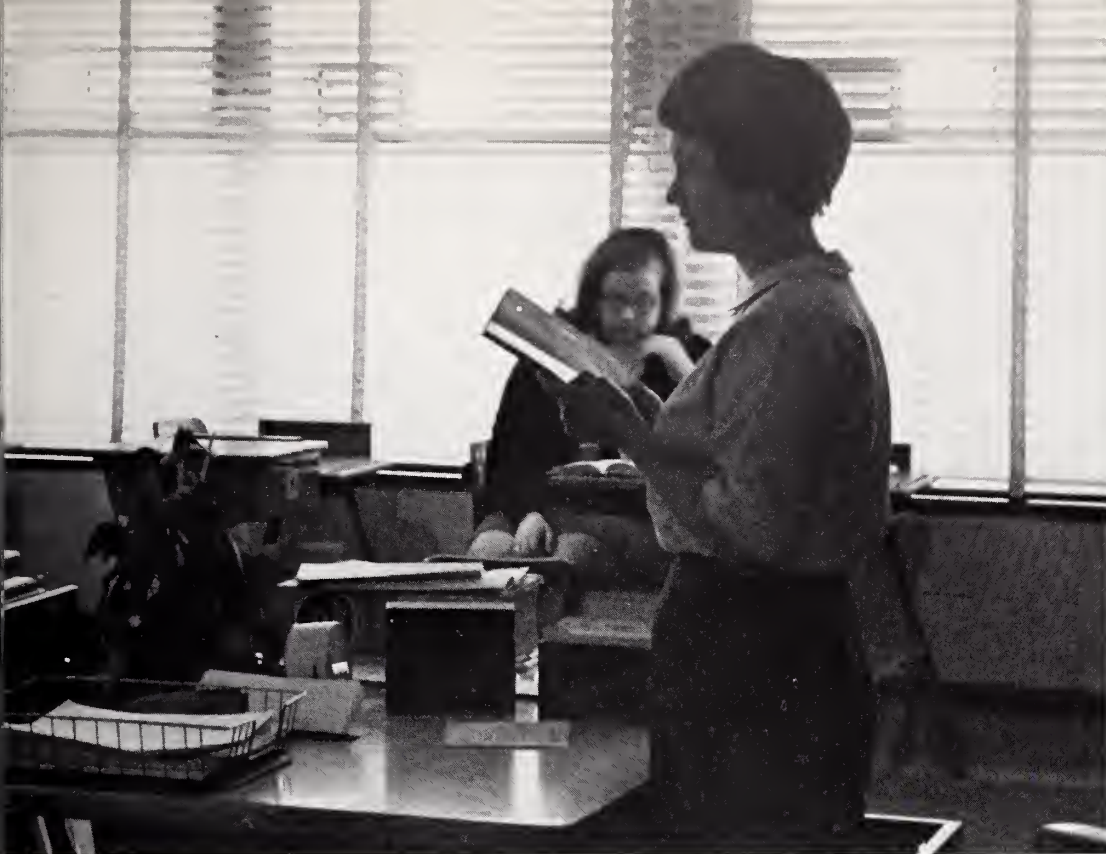

A two-year secretarial course is also offered to students who desire an opportunity to excel in shorthand, typing, business correspondence, and office machine operations.

True Expression Reveals Understanding

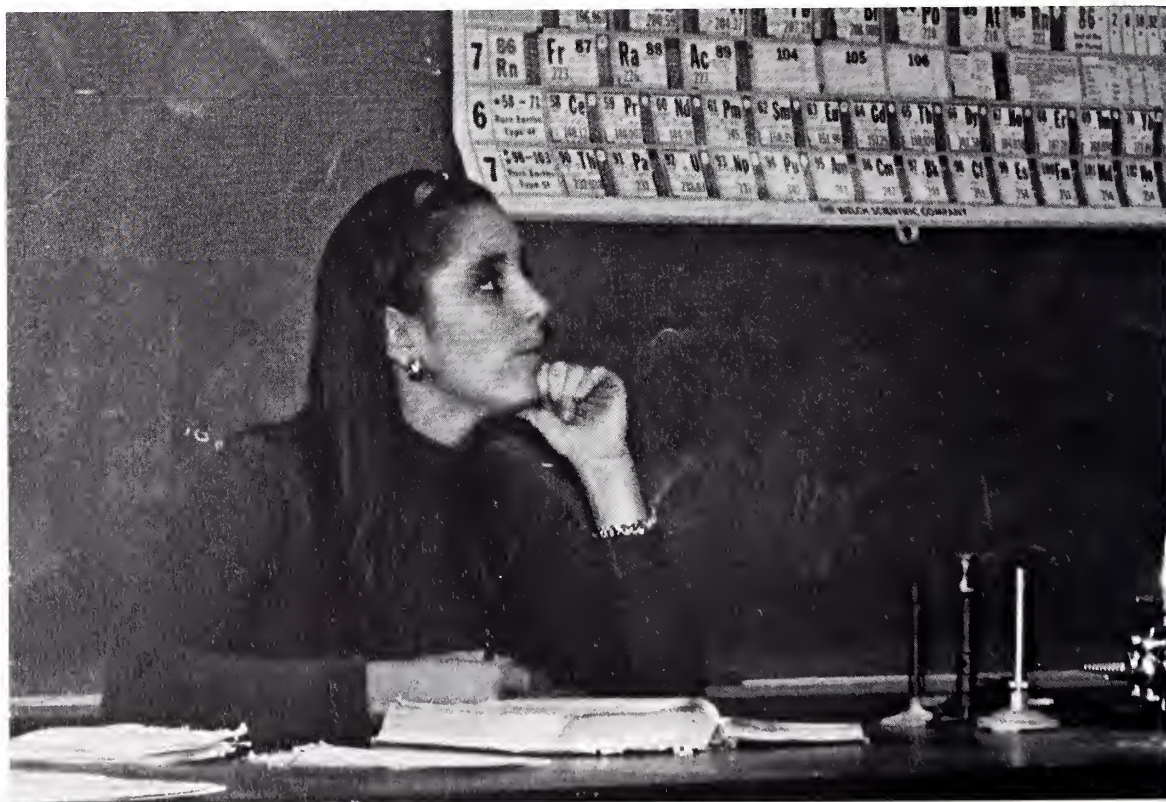

Mr. Henry J. Howard
Sophomore Literature
Department Chairman
M.A., University of South Carolina

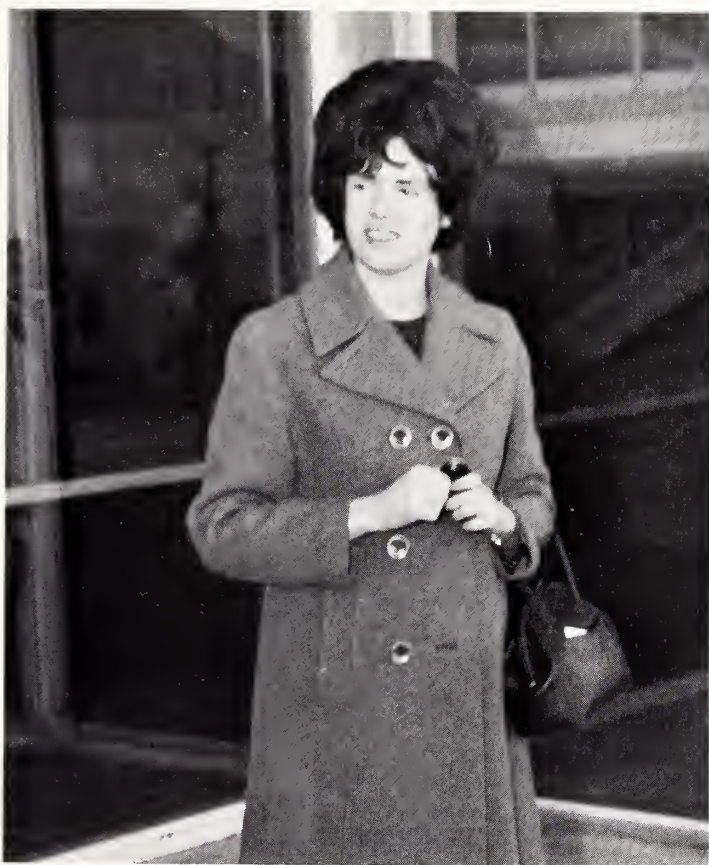

The English Department is aware of the importance of developing in all students, as fully as possible, four basic skills: reading, thinking, writing, and speaking. Therefore, every instructor is primarily concerned with helping each student to read critically and to write and speak with clarity of thought and accuracy of expression.

To aid students with difficulties in these areas, developmental courses in reading, grammar, and writing are offered each semester as well as during the summer session.

Reaching the goals established by the English Department requires special effort by students and faculty and extra materials. Recent expenditures for audio-visual instructional materials have been made possible through subsidies and grants from outside sources. Filmstrips, recordings, and other instructional aids are included in the departmental budget.

Developing skills of perception and response is the main business of our art classes at North Greenville Junior College. We call them Art Fundamentals and Art Appreciation.

Another way of saying Art Fundamentals is Intensive Design. In this class, we explore line, shape, value, texture, and color through many individual approaches and varied materials. Imagination is also greatly encouraged. Skills in perception and response are also learned.

Music is another luxury that challenges and stirs the imagination and deepens the understanding of those who participate or listen. Courses are offered to students planning to go into one of the varied fields of music as a profession. Among the events of the year, the A Cappella Choir presented concerts in churches while on tour in South Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia.

Students Concentrate on Foreign Languages

Students studying a foreign language may choose Spanish, French course, students become familiar with conversation, countries is met in these courses through written and spoken media.

The influence and charms of the Spanish people are presented in beginning and intermediate Spanish. Students enjoy learning through the use of film strips, slides, and interesting discussions on Spanish art, music, and drama.

Students wishing to learn French culture enjoy the benefits of French Literature. In the French course students become familiar with conversation, composition, dictation, and the fundamentals of the language.

The study of Greek is more than the study of a language. Reading selections are chosen from both classical and Koine Greek. The beginning Greek student studies grammar, pronunciation, translation, and syntactical relationships of the Greek sentence, while the intermediate student concentrates on reading and exegetical study of the Greek text.

Organized Competition Develops Physical Fitness

Miss Kella Jane Hall
Physical Education
B.S., Carson-Newman College

One of the major concerns of the Health and Physical Education Department is the development of sound attitudes toward mental, physical, and emotional health. Organized experiences help afford the opportunity of developing physical fitness, sound mental health, and knowledge and competence in a variety of sports and health studies. Involved are sports such as basketball, volleyball, tennis, baseball, bowling, golf, and archery. Intramural activities between teams are also included in the Physical Education Department.

Students interested in the health course not only studied physiology of the body, but also visited places of interest such as Greenville Mental Health Center. Reports were given by each student on different points of interest, and educational records were used by the instructor.

Mr. Dewey Wilson Cooke
Mathematics
M.M., University of South Carolina

Courses in chemistry, biology, physical science, physics, and mathematics are included in the Natural Sciences and Mathematics Department.

The biological sciences are concerned with understanding the phenomenon of life, its origin and development. The student receives an understanding of all forms of life through diagrams, projects, and film strips. In use this year was a new textbook which was of great benefit to the students to participate in experimental laboratory work, helping them to learn the basic elements in relation to everyday living. Through a daily notebook and ardent use of the overhead projector, the student furthers his science education. This year the Science Department purchased four new electrical balances for the laboratory.

In physics classes the students participate in active laboratory sessions. In this way they obtain a solid foundation for all other experimental sciences.

Religious Heritage Symbolizes Wisdom

In the Old and New Testament courses, the Bible is used as a primary source along with supplementary materials. Dates, personalities, and archaeological items are a major influence upon the student. The students obtain important facts which help prepare them for deeper and more involved courses in their future studies.

In the Religious Education course, Baptist life and work are surveyed. Methods of teaching Bible and religious topics are also dealt with. This course helps prepare the student for useful leadership in his church and community.

Preparation Offered for Future Challenges

Mr. Wade H. Hale
Government
B.D., Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

Courses in sociology, psychology, history, and government comprise the Social Science Department. Sociology helps the student prepare for modern living. In this course group life, socialization, environment, urban growth, population factors, and social change are dealt with.

Psychology courses include general, applied, and adolescent. This year, the classes experimented with programmed learning. applied and adolescent courses offered various field trips to institutions.

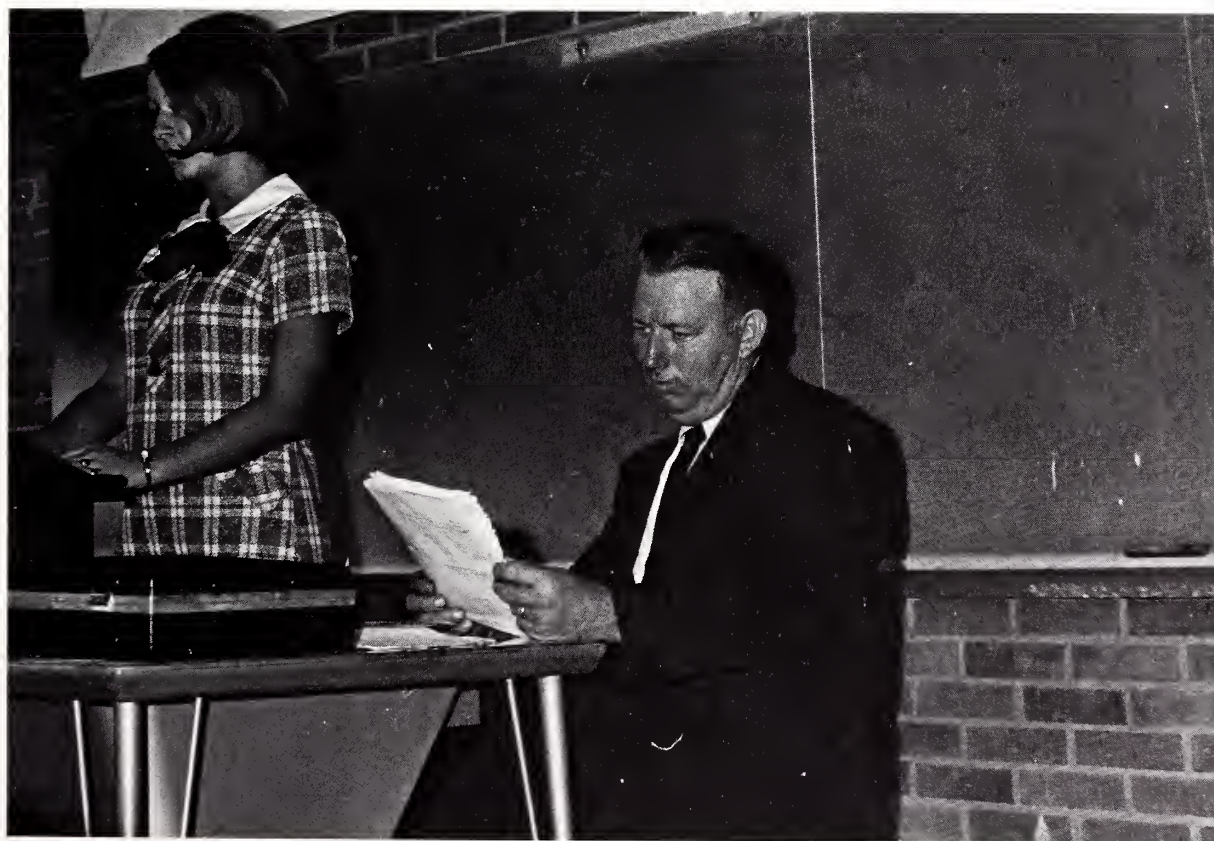

In the history and government classes the students learn to face the challenge of this fast closing century of frustrations with adequate knowledge and techniques. These courses prepare the students to pursue further study with confidence that will not accept mediocrity.

ORGANIZATIONS

"Organizations on the campus carry on vital programs that command much attention and produce lasting results."

S. G. A. Initiates Campus Activities

Gina Chilton, president.

By sponsoring many activities this year, the Student Government Association has been very active. At the beginning of the school year, the association sponsored a concert given by Mitch Humphries and also gave a Welcome Party for freshmen. The concert was given in order to promote more school spirit among students. During Homecoming weekend, the S.G.A. sponsored a talent show and tours. Each member of the executive committee had a specific job to do, consisting of tours through the buildings and around campus. The talent show was given by any freshman or sophomore who wanted to entertain during the Friday night festivities.

Being responsible for the student chapel programs was another duty of the Council this year. These programs were varied and informative.

Council's Duty to Try Student Appeals

The Judicial Council, comprised of a very small group of students, is designed to try campus discipline cases referred to it by the House Councils or by the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association. This year there have been relatively few cases referred to it.

Judicial Council members — Gina Chilton, Mitch Humphries, Ann Childers, and Richard Spearman.

S.G.A. discusses plans for campus improvement.

Council Revises Campus Regulations

Mrs. Olive Crain, Dean of Women.

Members of the Women's House Council are chosen by the boarding girls and the Dean of Women. It is the Council's purpose to deal with any minor infraction of the dormitory rules placing whatever penalty seems necessary upon the girls, but at the same time, aiding every girl in all aspects of college life.

The Council plays a vital role in various activities on campus. In the girls' dormitory a monthly birthday party is held, which is not only enjoyed by the girls but gives them a break in their routine. Each year, it is the pleasure of the House Council to entertain at Open House during Christmas festivities. Visitors not only have a view of the dorm that is gaily decorated, but they also enjoy tasty refreshments.

At Valentine's, the Men's and Women's House Councils arrange a banquet. Much time and effort goes into the decorating which turns the cafeteria into a sweetheart setting. The girls choose a King of Hearts, and the boys choose a Queen of Hearts.

New Dean Improves Men's Living Conditions

Stan Craig, president.

The Men's House Council maintains order in the dormitories and assists the Dean of Men in his purpose to promote happiness.

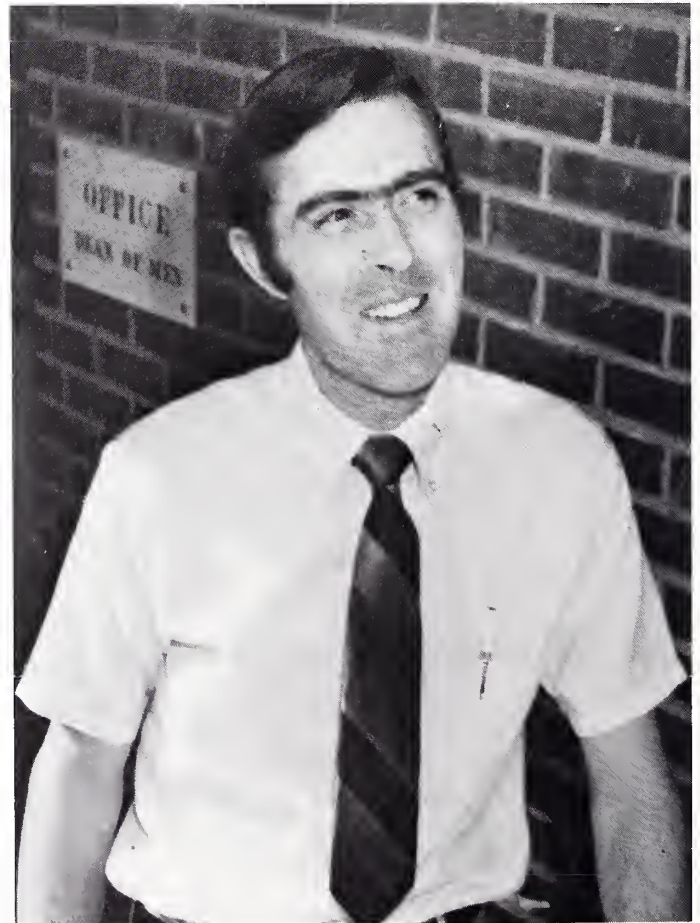

It meets to discuss policies and codes that need to be revised and to deal with infractions of the rules which might occur.

This year, it set up a dress code for all students and, along with the Women's House Council, gave a Valentine's Banquet for the students. The banquet was given in the cafeteria. A Sweetheart King, Jeff Hafer, and a Sweetheart Queen, Liz Robinson, were chosen by popular vote and crowned by Stan Craig and Gina Chilton.

Consisting of a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, the Council serves all men students equally and seeks to promote a spiritual atmosphere at North Greenville.

B.S.U. Sponsors Weekend Retreat

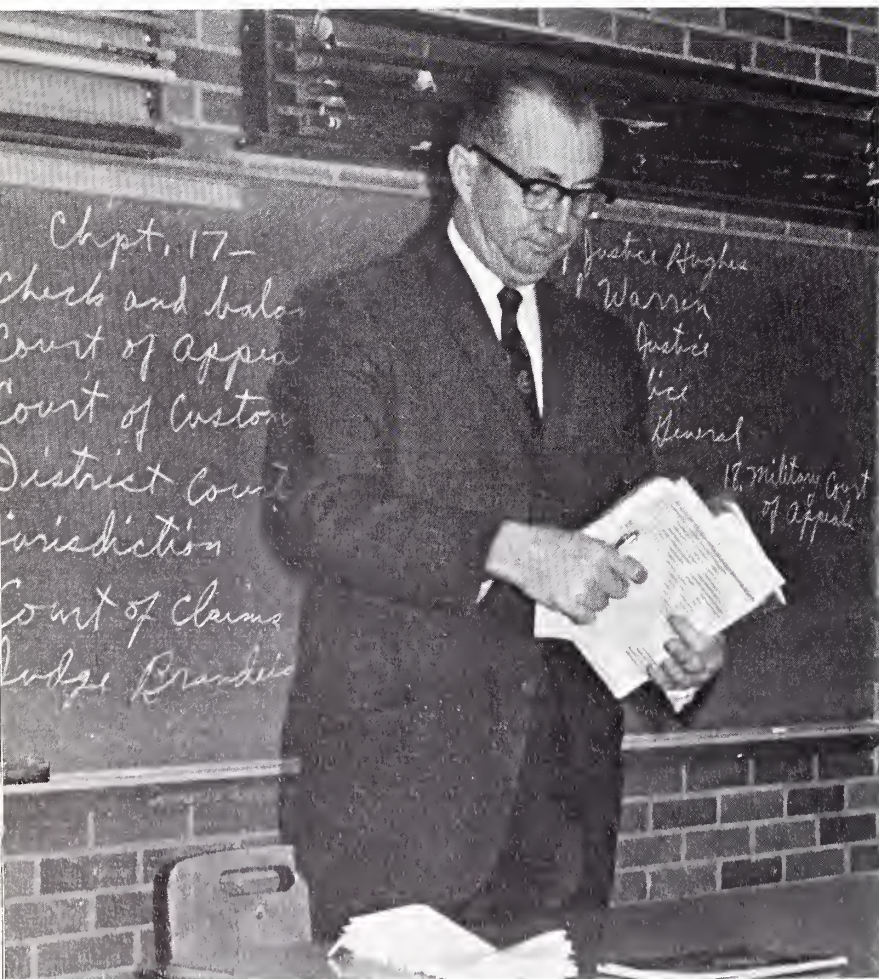

Nan Neves and Richard Spearman engage in a favorite sport at Camp Awanitaw.

An organization which seeks to promote Christian relations on the North Greenville campus is the Baptist Student Union. This year it was very active.

It gave a welcome party for freshmen, sponsored two fellowships after ballgames, held Christian Emphasis Week on campus, sent members to the State B.S.U. Convention in Spartanburg, and sponsored a weekend retreat at Camp Awanitaw. The retreat at Camp Awanitaw was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. It gave students a chance to get away from campus life and to have Christian fellowship with one another.

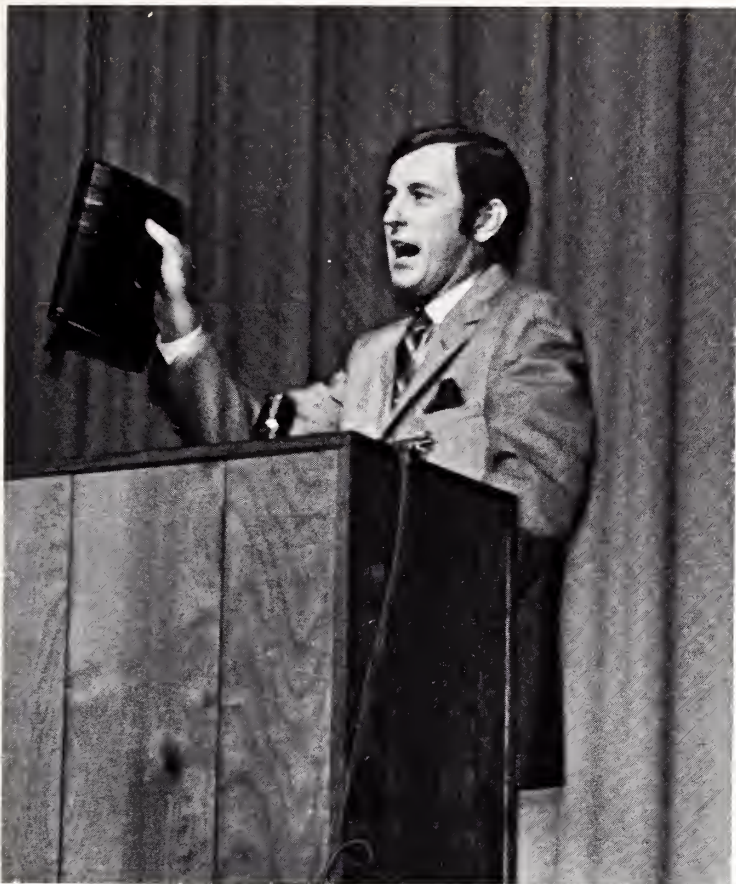

Another retreat at Ridgecrest, North Carolina, sponsored by Winthrop College, was held in the spring.

Band Provides Opportunities to Witness

Steve Crain, president.

With prayer as its guiding light, the Volunteer Band seeks to be of great help to all North Greenville students and to the Tigerville community. The organization is divided into three teams which strive to spread Christ to those about them.

The Physical Education Mission Team works with approximately twenty students in the sixth and seventh grades at the Tigerville Elementary School. Each week sportsmanship and Christian ethics are stressed to the children.

A Deputation Team and a singing group, The Tigertones, also compose the Volunteer Band. These two groups present plays and messages in song to various churches in the surrounding area. They work together to spread the Word of God and to win those who are lost.

Mission Team — Seated: Richard Sloan, Tommy Dobson, Cheryl McAbee, Shaw McDonald, Nan Neves, Larry Brown, Brenda Clarke, Dianne Pritchard, and Vivian Duggins. Christian Ethics Are Primary Binding

Sam Britt, president.

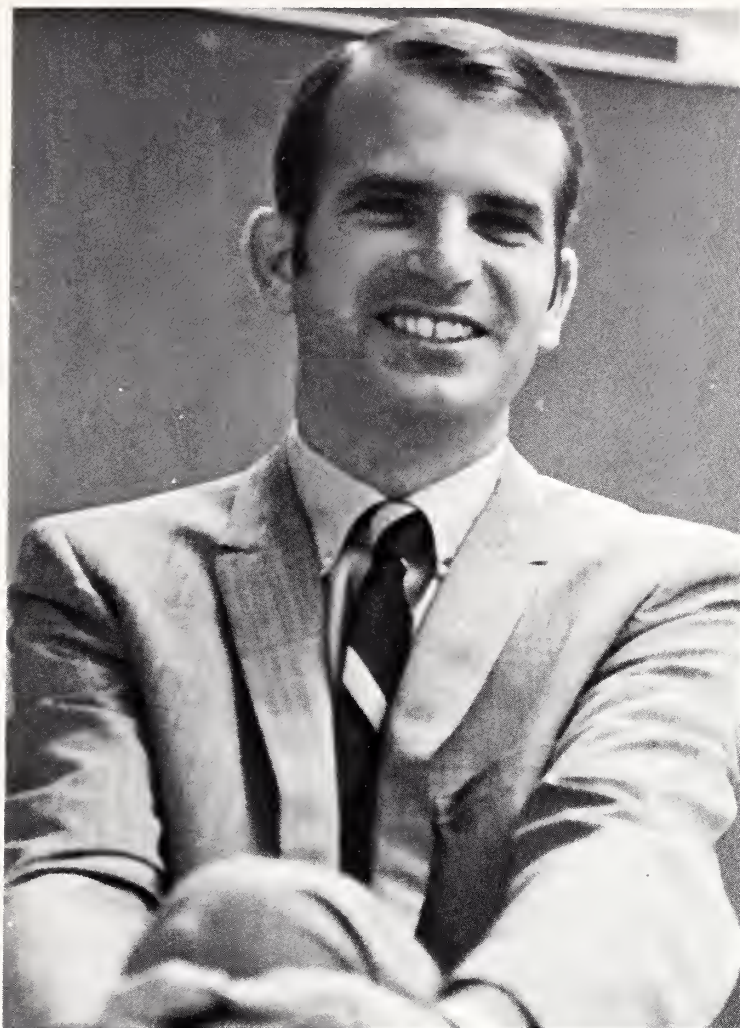

The C.S.M.'s primary purpose is to promote understanding among various cultural, ethnic, and religious groups. Its wish is to serve this campus in a constructive manner without causing dissension. The organization's foundation is built on the ideas and opinions of its various members. The primary binding force of the C.S.M. is Christian ethics.

The C.S.M. has brought to North Greenville's chapel programs different views of leaders of other denominations in the hope of binding all Christians together, regardless of denomination.

Earlier in the year, this organization held a memorial service for all those who had died in Vietnam that others might have freedom all over the world.

Members — Chris McClellan, Douglas Riker, Steve Smith, Sam Britt, Steve Harris, Linda Harris, Shaw McDonald, Diane Ackerman, Geoffrey Wood, Ben Harris, Bill Bertha.

Dr. John Walker, sponsor.

Officers — Bill Bertha and Steve Harris.

C.S.M. members await transportation for fieldtrip to Furman.

Y.W.A.'s Inspire Christian Leadership

Marcia Cave, president.

Seeking to aid its members, the Young Woman's Auxiliary causes girls to become more aware of the needs around them. Twice monthly the group holds meetings at which the girls present interesting programs. Through mission studies and special offerings, they are challenged to minister to those on foreign soil and to those at home.

Last fall the Y.W.A. officers were fortunate to have Miss Zella Woody, state Y.W.A. Director, attend the Pre-School Retreat. She presented the group with interesting ideas and plans for the year.

Y.W.A.'s also enjoyed fun and fellowship together. Each girl had the opportunity of attending the Associational Valentine's Banquet, which was held at the Southerner Restaurant. An array of fashions from Perry's Casual Shop followed a delicious meal.

Constructive Criticism Helps Young Ministers

Stan Craig, president.

Preparing students for the ministry, supplying preachers for pulpits where needed, helping young preachers with constructive criticism toward aspects of their ministry, and striving to present Jesus Christ to everyone are the goals of the Dean Crain Ministerial Association.

This year, it sponsored two banquets which provided fellowship for all members. It also set up mission goals in the community and counseled ministerial students in various ways such as the duties of a pastor.

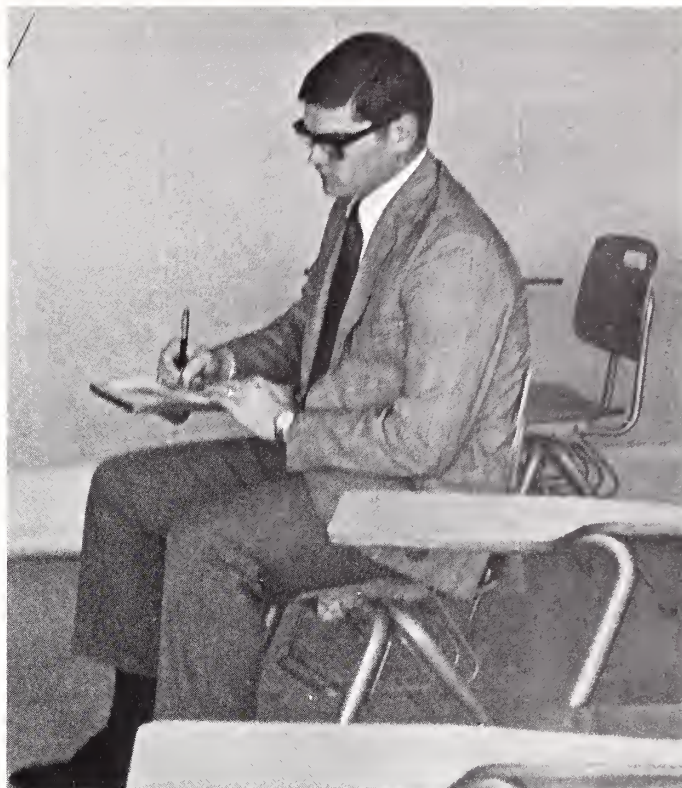

Those wishing to become members must give a testimony of their conversion experience and their call to the ministry.

Questioning Mr. Hale concerning the duties of a pastor are Geoffrey Wood, Stan Craig, and Dennis Wilson.

Mr. Wade Hale, sponsor.

Choir Tour Highlights Year's Work

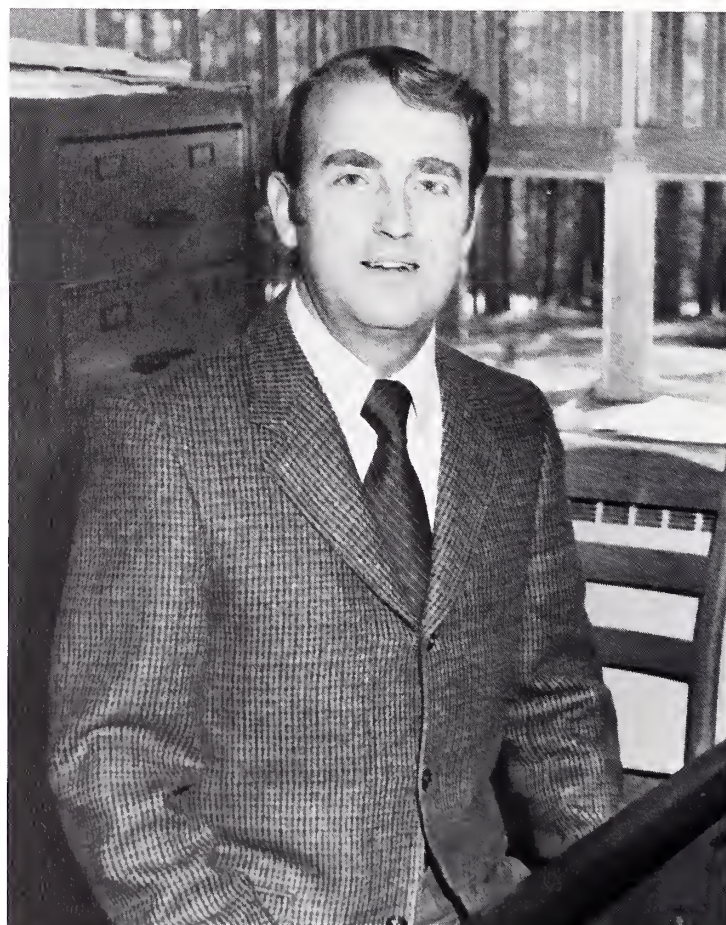

Officers — Debbie Butler, Richard Spearman, Gina Chilton, Richard Davis, Angie Raymond, and Nan Neves.

Composed of forty-five students who enjoy music, the College Choir is a very important part of the North Greenville student body. The members are selected on the basis of private auditions at the beginning of the academic year.

Accompanied by Marcia Cave and directed by Mr. Dwight Robinson, the group practices various choral selections four times weekly. During the Christmas season, the Choir presented an a cappella concert entitled "Gloria" by Vivaldi. The main event of the year occurred in March when the Choir performed in Tennessee, Georgia, and South Carolina. The tour ended in Turner Auditorium with a full concert which was presented to all the students, faculty, and staff of North Greenville.

Choir has last minute practice before the concert.

N.F.S. Invigorates School Spirit

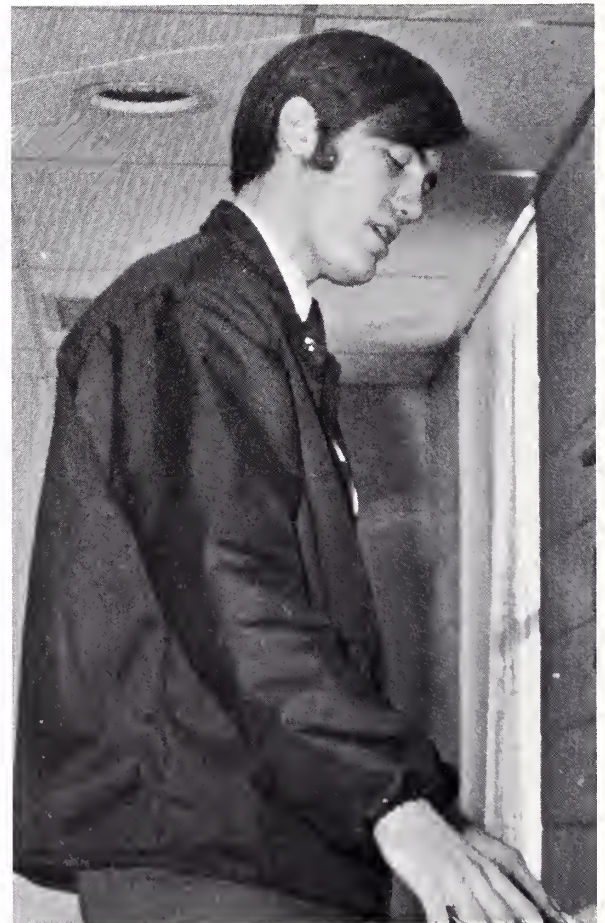

Officers — Jacob Rivers, Mickey Dill, and Billy Hamilton.

Membership in the New Frontier Society is composed of Freshman and Sophomore men who are selected to be pledged. Each member feels it an honor to have the privilege of wearing the organization's specially designed jacket. The club holds meetings twice each month unless a special meeting is called by the president.

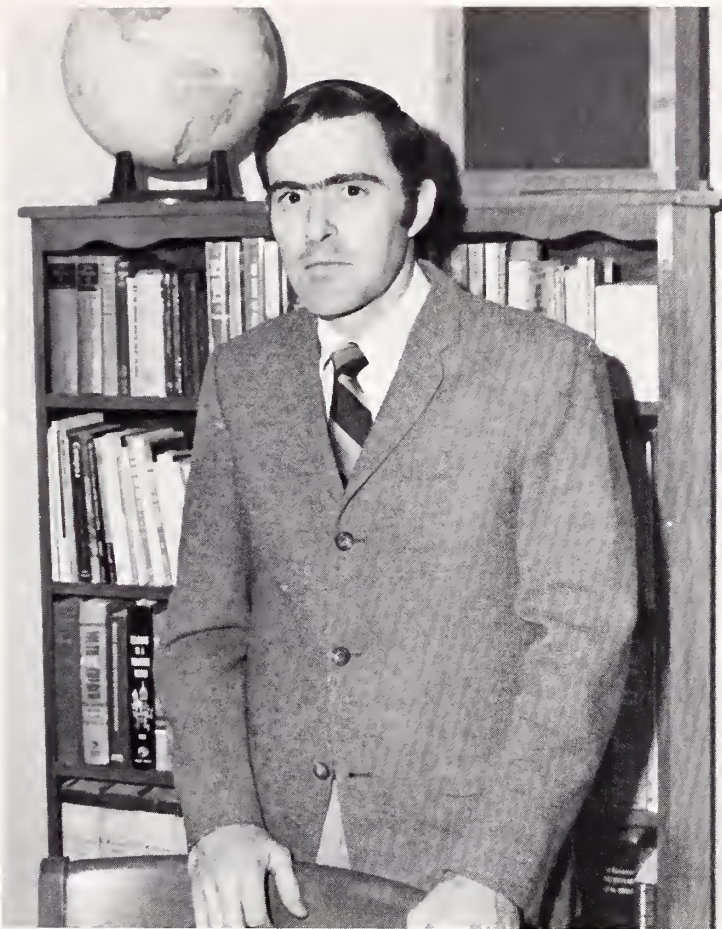

The Society's main ambition this year was to boost school spirit on the North Greenville campus. This was accomplished when the group entertained students with bonfires during basketball season. They also presented in concert "The Soul Attraction." This Greenville musical group, composed of six talented young men, presented many of today's popular songs as well as hits from the past.

Members make plans for a concert.

Card Sales

Sponsored by the Civitan Club of Greer, South Carolina, the Collegiate Civitan Club is open to all Freshman and Sophomore men who wish to join. As a member of Civitan International, the purpose of the organization is to offer young men the opportunity to build their character and to develop their ability to become good citizens.

This year, the members sponsored a car smashing which brought fun and satisfaction to all students. Cards, picturing the new men's dormitory, were sold during the Christmas season. The proceeds from both events went into the Linda Arms Fund. The fireworks display which the Club sponsored before the Homecoming basketball game helped to boost student pride in North Greenville.

Members Attend World Premiere

Students are privileged to meet professional James Whitmore.

Offering talented and creative students an opportunity to take part in dramatic presentations, the Sock 'n' Buskin plans and presents programs each year that are entertaining to everyone. This year's first presentation, "Will the Real Jesus Christ Please Stand Up?", was truly a success.

The Drama Club had the privilege of attending several productions at the Greenville Little Theatre. "Hello, Dolly!" featured the sponsor, Mrs. McCall. The members also attended the world premiere of "Will Rogers, U.S.A." where they had the opportunity of talking with Mr. James Whitmore, renowned Broadway actor, who played the famous American humorist.

The students write plays which are presented and directed by the members of the Drama Club. Each year the Club presents an award to the most outstanding member.

Members Appreciate the Fine Arts

President, Linda Morgan.

Esse Quam Videre is an honorary literary society that is one of the oldest and most important organizations at North Greenville. Twenty-four girls who have the highest averages in English the preceding year are invited to be members.

Each girl is given an opportunity to organize programs and make public speeches pertaining to the fine arts.

Among the most meaningful programs presented this year was one on Valentine's Day. A program was given which informed the members of the origin and customs of Valentine's Day. The theme was carried out through the decorations and refreshments prepared by some of the members. Also, the organization had guest speakers to enlighten the group in the fields of music, art, and literature. These meetings helped each girl to appreciate the fine arts.

Society Sponsors Poetry Reading Session

Geoffrey Wood, president.

From all available data, the Dean Howard Literary Society seems to be the oldest, recorded and existing campus organization in the history of North Greenville.

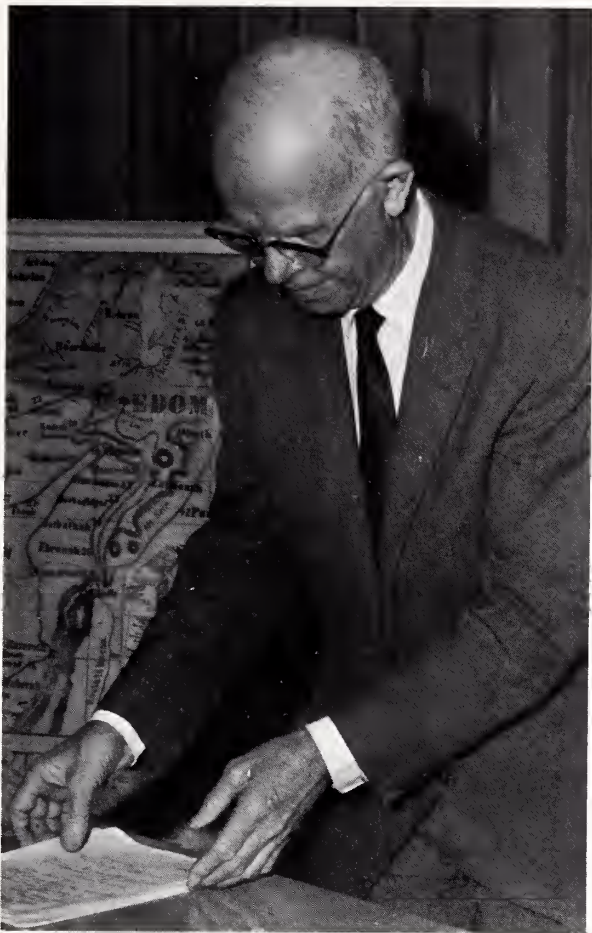

The Society was organized in 1901 under the name ACH. When Dean Howard came to the campus, the society was dying. He revived it; hence the change of name. Presently membership is extended to men recommended by their English professors at the end of the first semester.

This year the Society sponsored the second "Miss College Campus" contest. Proceeds went to an established scholarship fund for a promising student.

Other programs included speakers from foreign countries, a poetry reading session, review of Dean Howard's book, From There Roots, a trip to WFBC-TV, and a trip to the Greenville News.

Members — Seated: Matthew England, Sam Britt, Ben Harris, Stan Craig, Mike Holt. Standing: Douglas Riker, Geoffrey Wood, Raymond Black, Jerry Bruce, Freddie Mullinax.

Sponsor, Dean Howard.

A poetry listening session is held by society members.

Special Chapel Recognizes Honor Students

Mr. Wilson Cooke, sponsor.

Phi Theta Kappa membership is the greatest honor that a student at North Greenville can attain. To become a member of this organization, a student must have a 3.5 or better grade point ratio. Along with scholastic ability, he must possess an alert mind, leadership, integrity, and dependability.

These students who have achieved this grade point ratio are invited to join Phi Theta Kappa at the end of each semester. A special chapel program was sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa to recognize and honor prospective members.

Musical Expression Encouraged on Campus

Officers — Susan Bell, Nancy Essex, and Wanda Pittman.

Affiliated with the South Carolina Federation of Music Clubs, the Etude Honorary Music Society's main goal is to promote music programs and musical interests on campus. Membership in the organization is open to all music majors who achieve a "B" average in their music courses.

Etude sponsors recitals and concerts each year. Last fall the club presented a special Variety Show in which the members sang selections appealing to everyone.

Each year the organization presents an award to the boy and girl who have been most outstanding in the Music Department.

Members — Teresa Arbaugh, John McGraw, Gina Chilton, Angie Raymond, Wanda Pittman, Nancy Essex, Debbie Butler, Anne Garrett, Jo Ann Droze, Jack Cole.

Teresa Arbaugh displays musical talent.

Field Trip Planned to Keowee-Toxaway

President Liz Robinson browses among the stacks.

L'Amicale des Livres, commonly known as the Library Club, is now ten years old. It was organized in 1959 with the purpose of cultivating an appreciation of the arts and of developing an interest in current events. As in all other organizations on campus, members are required to have at least a "C" average. Members must have a sincere interest in literature to enjoy fully their membership. Planned programs are presented at the monthly meetings.

Field trips were made this year to Clemson University to see the new library, one of the finest of its kind in our area. Also scheduled was a trip to Duke Power's Keowee-Toxaway Project in Oconee County.

Interest in P. E. Promoted Among Co-eds

Members work at concessions during every home ballgame.

As one of the most active organizations on campus, it is the purpose of the Girls' Physical Education Council to promote school spirit. It wishes also to promote a vigorous interest in physical education among the co-eds here at North Greenville. In hope of obtaining this goal, the Council sponsors the girls' intramural program. One of the main duties of this organization is to direct the cheerleaders.

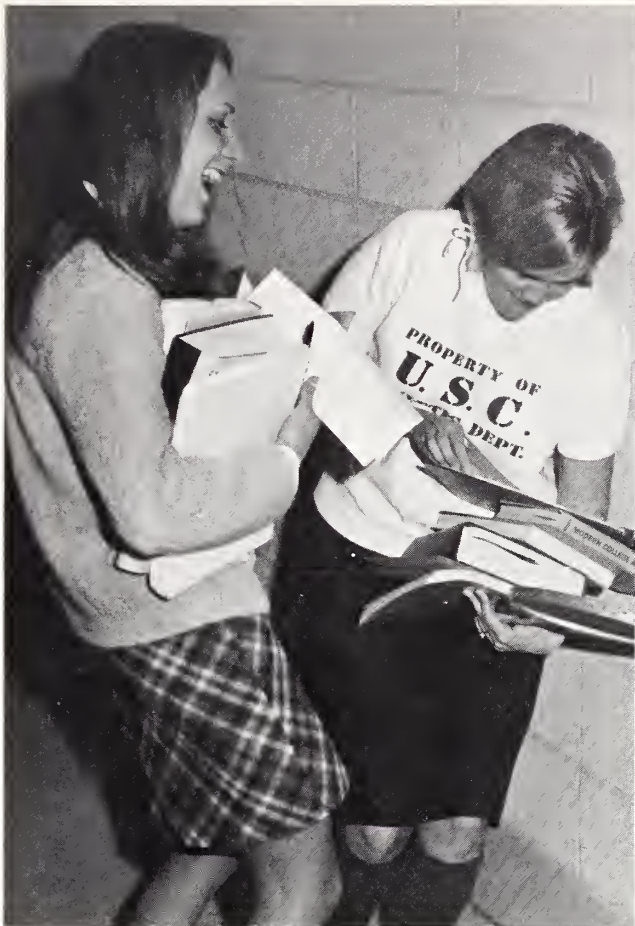

Whenever there is a home basketball game, one will find members of the P.E. Council working diligently at the concession stand. The club uses the money earned from this to provide a fifty dollar scholarship each year to some deserving sophomore girl.

Club Keeps Up-to-Date in Business World

Mrs. Delane Wood, sponsor.

The business club, Phi Beta Lambda, is an organization for students who are planning careers in business education.

Learning to lead and participate in group discussions, presiding at meetings, and directing committee work, plus many other skills, are some of the different things the Phi Beta Lambda offers to the student. The members took a field trip to Greenville Technical Educational Center where they received on-the-spot training in the business world.

This organization is the college division of a national organization for students in business education, and it strives to help college students learn more about business life today.

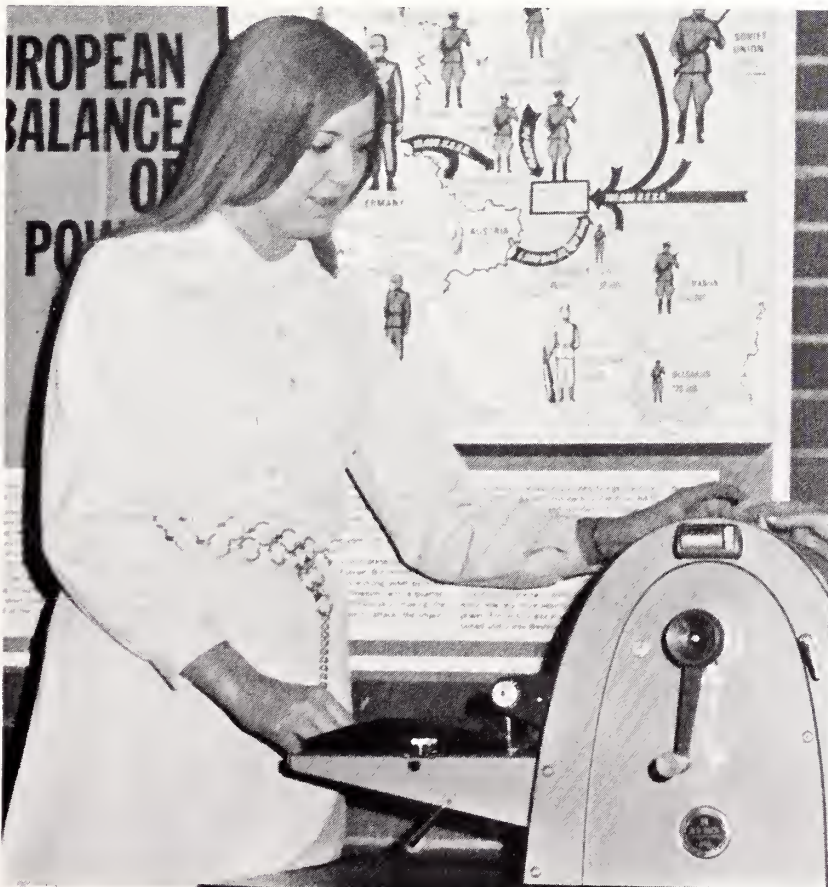

Members — Elaine Butler, Mrs. Delane Wood, Ann Birt, Libby Byars, Glenda Godwin, Doris Cunningham, Sandra Surett, Dot Lollis, Yvonne Thompson, Beth Durham.

The Aurora is a yearly publication of North Greenville Junior College. The publishing involves a great deal of time and hard work such as drawing layouts, writing copy, taking numerous pictures, cropping pictures, proofreading, and meeting deadlines.

However, all of this work gives each staff member an opportunity to contribute his talents in composing a summary of a year at North Greenville.

When the final product, the Aurora, is finished, it retains the most important memories of the year, showing moments that are precious to each student — moments that can be relived by glancing through the book.

Publication Strives to Present True Image

Co-editors Dennis Wilson and Pat Bowen proofread paper.

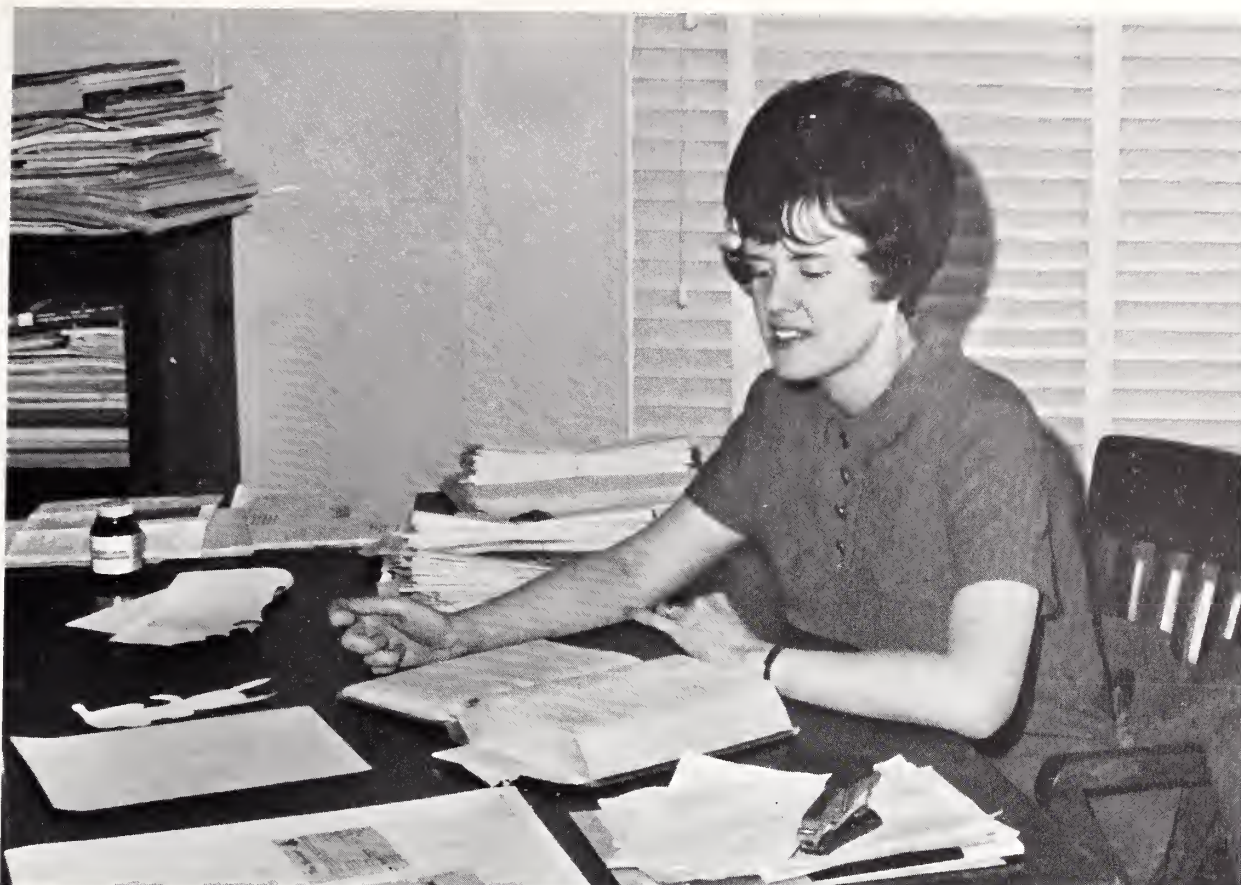

North Greenville is honored indeed to have a newspaper such as the Skyliner, which attempts to cover impartially campus news. The staff strives to present a true image of the college.

The Skyliner has gained acceptance by collegiate staffs and membership to the Associated Collegiate Press. It is also a member of the South Carolina Collegiate Press Association.

The staff covers a variety of stories that are of interest to everyone. Its coverage includes club news, sports, and editorials; for the young at heart, there are illustrated cartoons that have realistic meanings. In each issue the Skyliner features one of our foreign students.

Seventeen Students Are Honored

Scholarship Day is one day during the year set aside to give recognition to those students who have attained a high scholastic average. This year seventeen students achieved the required 3.5 grade point ratio. During the ceremonies each honored student received a corsage or boutonniere. These students were invited to join Phi Theta Kappa, the local chapter of a national junior college fraternity. These outstanding students applied themselves diligently throughout the semester, not just prior to tests.

As Dean of Instruction, Dr. Walsh presides over Scholarship Day.

Students honored on Scholarship Day are presented to the student body.

S. C. Baptist Convention President Speaks

Rev. J. C. Rice, Jr., prepares to address his audience.

The Reverend J. C. Rice, Jr., president of the South Carolina Baptist Convention, challenged the Founders' Day audience at North Greenville Junior College to possess "the fear of God and faith in God as keys to freedom."

Speaking on "Stirring, Sizzling Sixties and Hopefully, the Satisfying Seventies," he said, "It is impossible to be rightly related horizontally with our fellows without first being rightly related vertically with God."

The speaker called upon students, staff, and visitors to understand the meaning of freedom. He said where there is true freedom there must be responsibility, enlightenment, empathy, devotion, obedience, and morality.

"Freedom is from something," he said, "but, if we understand the Christ, it is for something."

Dr. Neely presides at Founders' Day.

Eddie West Is Guest Speaker

Don Trammell discusses his presentation on Vietnam with the Bolins.

Christian Emphasis Week is one week chosen during the year to be devoted to religious activities. For Christian Emphasis Week this year, the Reverend Eddie West was the main speaker, as he helped us develop the following theme:

God is . . .

You feel His presence in the morning sun,
In a glorious sunset,
Or in the wind which ruffles your hair.

With us . . .

In our everyday conversation,
In an important exam,
Asking that extra-special girl out for the first time,
Or just walking around campus.

Always!

No matter when or where,
In good times or bad,
He is always with us.
But perhaps, in this one week,
We feel His presence more acutely.

Eleven Students Selected

Wanda Pittman

In any group of people, there are those who distinguish themselves. Some stand out in sports or scholarship, some in leadership, some simply in service to the rest. Since these people frequently go unrecognized, North Greenville attempts to give credit where credit is due by recommending that these students be included in Who's Who in American Junior Colleges.

Following his nomination, each student submits biographical material for publication in the current book and receives a certificate of membership. The nationwide program is an effective means of encouraging leadership among college students.

MISS CONGENIALITY

The title of Miss Congeniality differs from the other titles of the Miss Aurora Pageant in that Miss Congeniality is chosen by the contestants themselves. Because of her friendliness and helpfulness during the entire pageant, Miss Dianne Pritchard was chosen as the 1970 Miss Congeniality.

*Always with a smile,
A friendly hand reaching out
To help in time of trouble,
She stands ready —
Ready to praise
 when praise is due,
To comfort or console those
 in distress,
To laugh with,
To cry with,
To be with.
She is a friend.*

Miss North Greenville is a title given to the young lady who the majority of students feels personifies the ideals and character traits of a typical North Greenville student. She is known to her friends for her ready smile, her cheerful personality, and her ever-present willingness to help whenever she is needed. We are proud to announce Miss Nan Neves as 1970's Miss North Greenville.

*Where she goes, a smile follows.
All those whom her life touches
Feel the warmth of her friendliness.
Always in the center of the whirlwind,
She somehow remains calm,
Above the turmoil.

Jeff Hafer Named

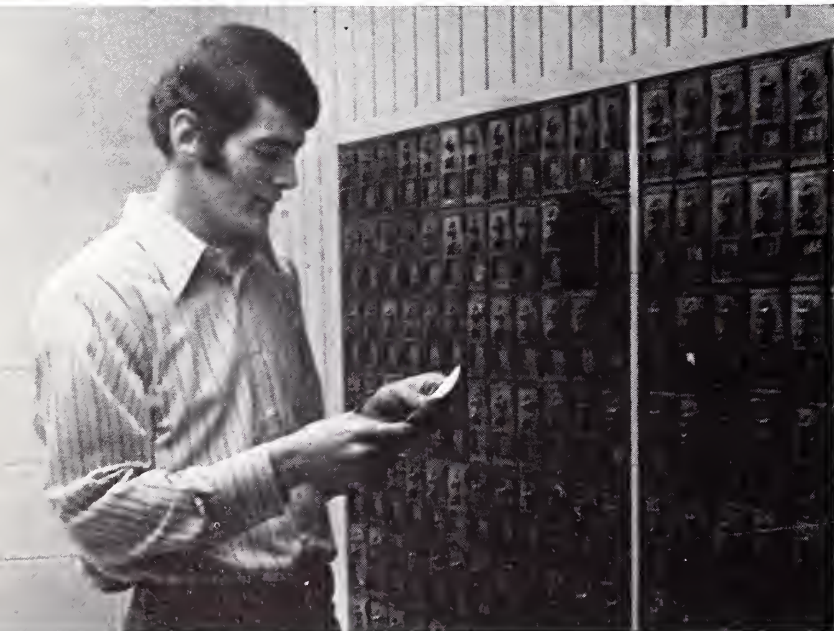

Mr. North Greenville is a title given to one young man who stands out in dependability, character, and service to North Greenville. The Aurora staff is pleased to announce the students' selection, Jeff Hafer, as 1970's Mr. North Greenville.

*Pride in accomplishments—
In a game well-played,
In a fight well-fought,
In his teammates, his friends,
and himself.*

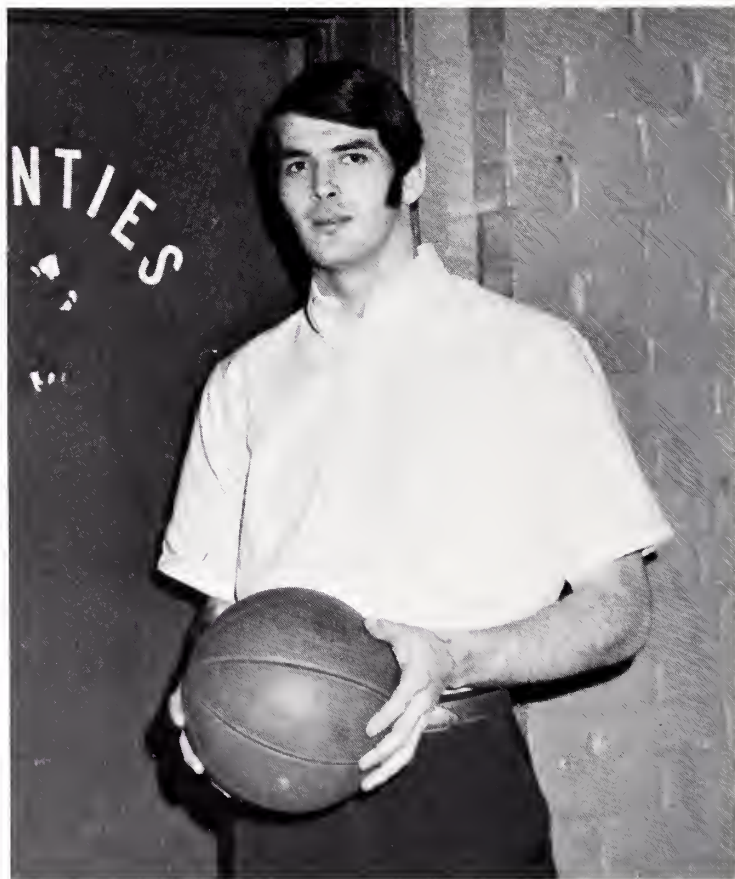

*Aware of responsibility—
To his team,
To North Greenville,
To his country and its people.*

*A true gentleman—
Courteous to others,
Respectful of those due respect,
Always ready to help a friend.*

Enthusiasm, Determination Aid Team's Success

Head Coach, Harvey Tankersley.

This year's basketball season was filled with enthusiasm which did not stop with the players but went into the stands crowded with spectators. There could not have been one person in the stands that did not feel a part of the Mountie Team. Everyone of us was proud not only of our team but of the way they represented North Greenville.

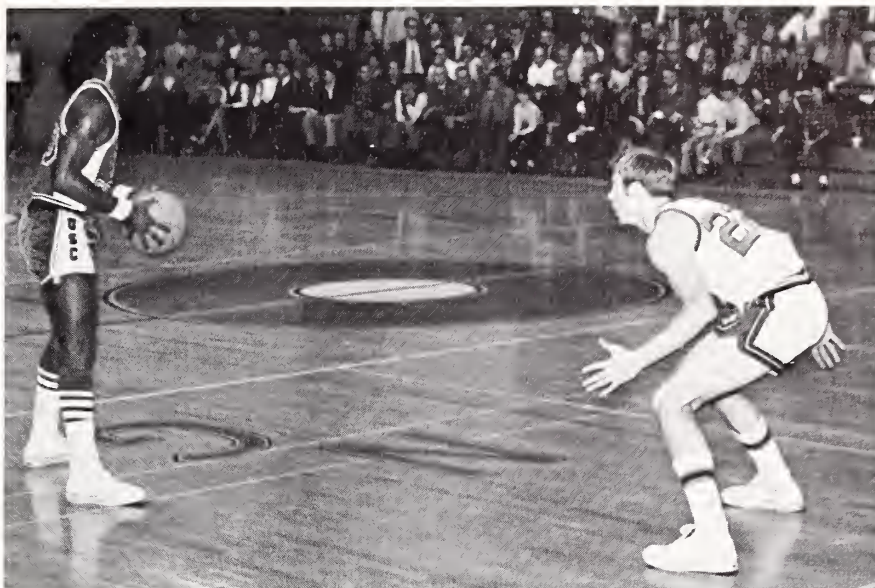

Under the direction of Coach Harvey Tankersley and the assistance of Coach Sam Worley, the Mounties kept their cool through games that seemed almost impossible to win. However, there was not one player that could not pick up the slack of his teammate when the need arose. Perhaps the reason was the spirit that the supporters showed during the crucial moments of the games.

Cheerleaders' Spirit Boosts Mounties

During halftime, the cheerleaders take a Coke break.

"We back the Mounties; we back the best." This was the theme of the 1970 North Greenville cheerleaders, led by Captain Jenny Owens. With new uniforms, new megaphones, Mountie tambourines, an exuberant crowd, and a great deal of enthusiasm, the cheerleaders did much to arouse school spirit and pride, particularly at games with archrivals Anderson and Spartanburg.

Throughout the season, they supported the team at all games possible, even games as far away as Wingate, Lees-McRae, and the conference tournament in Lenoir, North Carolina.

This year's cheerleaders represented North Greenville well and were amiable hostesses to visiting cheerleaders. They were always ready to back the Mounties in both defeat and victory, and much credit is due them for a job well done.

Mountie Line-up

With the support of several newcomers, "the Mountie 9" expected to turn in one of the finest records in the last few years. Now that Gardner-Webb is out of our conference, the only contenders left were Anderson, Wingate and Spartanburg.

Coach Sam Worley attributed much of the success to the enthusiasm, hustle, and spirit of the team.

This year's team was stabilized by six returning lettermen. The new prospects recognized from the first that they must work hard for a starting position, and these newcomers sparked the team to an outstanding season.

This year's team was a worthy successor with such big guns as Rockie Pitman, last year's most valuable player and leading hitter; Ronald Burns; Barry Brame; Jerry Mullinax; Mike Tucker; Sammy Campbell; and a freshman, Stan Elrod.

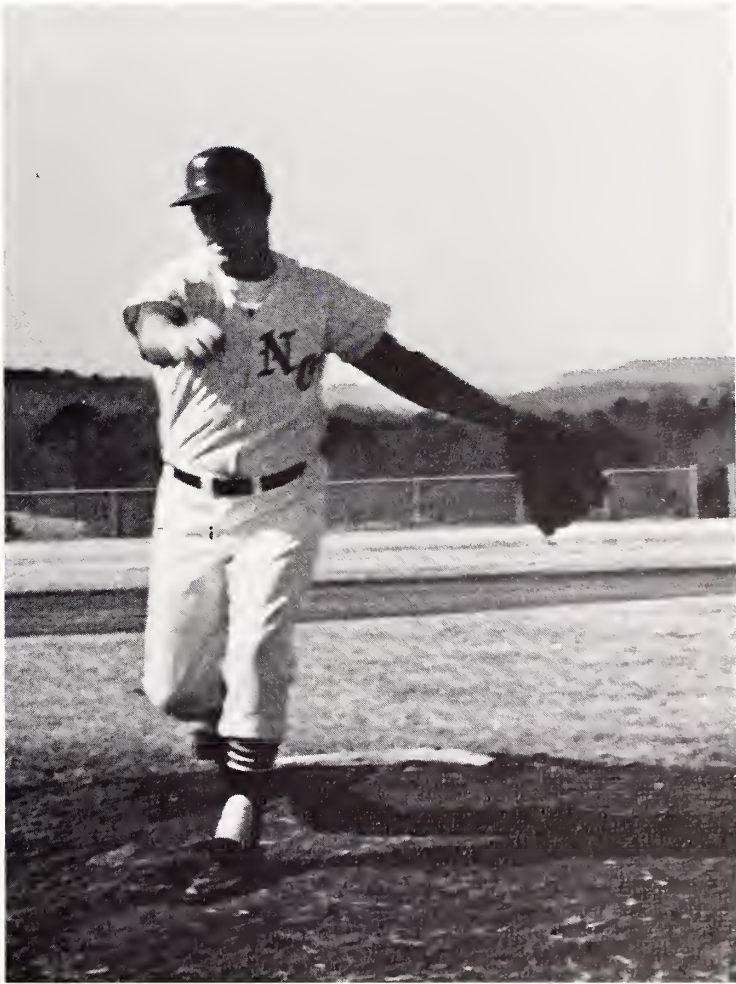

Getting in shape means laps and plenty of them.

Team Ranks High in State Competition

Richard Sloan demonstrates back hand stroke to Leigh Patterson.

North Greenville had its second girls' tennis team this year. Under the guidance of Mrs. Dan Proctor, last year's team finished with a winning season.

Coach Sandy Smith had the job of forming this year's team with only one member of last year's squad returning. The team began its season in March and competed intercollegiately with such schools as Anderson, Erskine, and Converse. Representatives from the team also competed in the Carolina Tennis Day activities held at Converse. At the SCARF-CA Day at Coker our team placed third.

Since tennis was the only sport offered this year in which the girls competed intercollegiately, it was desired of the team to do as well as they possibly could representing North Greenville Junior College.

Co-eds Compete in Athletics

Wanda Honea suggests that one wait a minute.

The P.E. Council directs the girls' intramural program on campus. Much enthusiasm and interest stems from this program not to mention the rivalry among one another and the handicaps some receive.

The girls' program offers team sports such as volleyball, soccer, basketball, and softball, as well as individual sports such as swimming, tennis, badminton, free throws, archery, bowling, and ping pong. A new event was added to the intramural program this year — powder puff football.

With the help of Misses Sandy Smith and Kella Hall, there has been much cooperation on the part of the girls as well as determination. The cause for this determination could be the recognition which is gained for excelling and participating in these intramurals.

Intramurals Are Revived

Mike Fillippeli carries the ball for Neves.

Under the direction of Coach Sam Worley, men's intramurals were revived this year. The men engaged in competition in football as well as basketball. Under the command of quarterback Jim Jumper, Neves took the football championship.

Much enthusiasm has gone into the competition this year; yet there is a stronger sense of belonging to North Greenville, which develops from this competition. Intramurals have become a high spot to the majority of the students this year, and most of them feel it is well worth the time and effort that goes into the games.

These intramurals create active rivalry between the teams as each attempts to assemble its best players for overall participation and accuracy. The team that eventually wins must prove versatile in athletics.

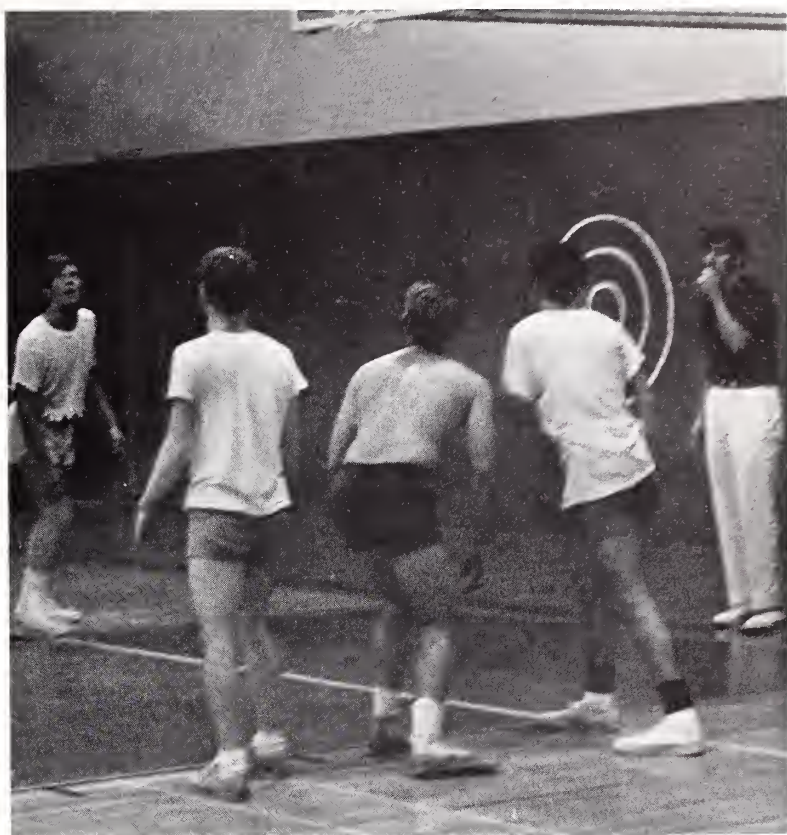

It's got to come down sooner or later.

It hurts to be brought to your knees.

Homecoming Provides Various Activities

Miss Paula Davis, Homecoming Queen.

One of the highlights of the academic year was Homecoming Weekend, which was held January 23 through the 25 this year.

Sponsored by the Student Government Association, activity began Friday night with a talent show consisting of a variety of songs and skits in Turner Auditorium. John McGraw was master of ceremonies for the evening. Of special appeal to the audience was the ending of the show, a patriotic monologue with a spotlight on the American flag.

Saturday's activities began with an alumni dinner to welcome North Greenville's graduates to the campus. This was followed by a fireworks display, compliments of the Civitan Club, and a pep rally in the gym.

Then came the highlight of the weekend, the basketball game against the visiting Wingate Bulldogs. During the halftime ceremonies, Miss Paula Davis was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Following the victorious game, the Baptist Student Union sponsored a social in the Student Center.

Christmas Joy Spreads over Campus

Freshmen put drink cans to use.

Christmas time around North Greenville is a busy time. Not only is everyone thinking of the upcoming exams, but the excitement of the season is overwhelming.

It is a time of participation among the various clubs as they spread the joy of the season all around campus by their meaningful decorations. However, the real meaning of Christmas is not forgotten as the yuletide carols are sung.

Annually the Choir presents a Christmas concert, and afterwards everyone is invited to tour the girls' dormitory. There the Women's House Council entertains with a drop in.

Freshmen Are Acquainted with Superiors

Freshmen will never forget the famous Rat March.

Rat Week introduced the students to college life. This important time helped the freshmen to become a part of North Greenville. It was hectic, in that all Rats were scared at the thought of what they might be asked to do, but it was an experience to remember.

Because of this week, the freshmen had many rewarding experiences. This exciting introduction gave the new students a feeling of belonging. Its chaotic atmosphere brought on the spirit of laughter. The games and stunts were all an act of informally making new persons known to one another. It brought about a sudden feeling of remorse for sophomores, but this soon turned into understanding and fondness. The reward of this week will be shown next year when the "Rats" are the "Cats".

Rats learn to clean the sidewalks well.

Rat King, Herbert Brown, finds a friend.

If you had been through what we have, you would stand in line for supper, too.

"To develop intellectually or physically requires effort; therefore, growth depends upon activity."

Freshmen Respond to College Life

As the freshmen became settled at North Greenville for the first year of college life, they were somewhat nervous, but, with the friendship and kindness of fellow students, they soon became adjusted. Together, the freshmen began to work and co-operate in planning many activities. The main activity was to plan and raise money for the Freshman-Sophomore banquet.

It is held in the spring and is given in honor of the sophomores preceding their graduation in May. Plans to raise money began at the opening of school with a concert given by Mitch Humphries. Freshmen also sold Mountie spirit buttons at the home ballgames, and sandwiches were sold in the dormitories to help obtain money.

CLASS

In English class freshmen soon learn to tune in.

Registration is the beginning of a freshman's year at college.

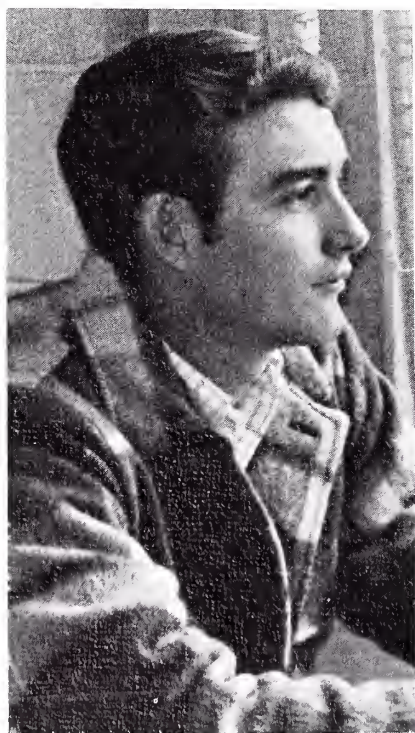

Sophomores Sponsor Successful Pageant

Highlighting the year for the sophomore class was the Miss Aurora Pageant. Each sophomore had a part in sponsoring this pageant, and it will be remembered for its success, just as the banquets, concerts, ballgames, and other extra-curricular activities. As the school year ends, the sophomores are looking forward to the Freshman-Sophomore banquet and to graduation.

These occasions will be filled with happiness as well as sadness because they will mark the end of the 1969-1970 academic year. However, all of these events had a part in molding each sophomore's life at North Greenville.

CLASS OF 1970

Day students get a quick meal between classes.

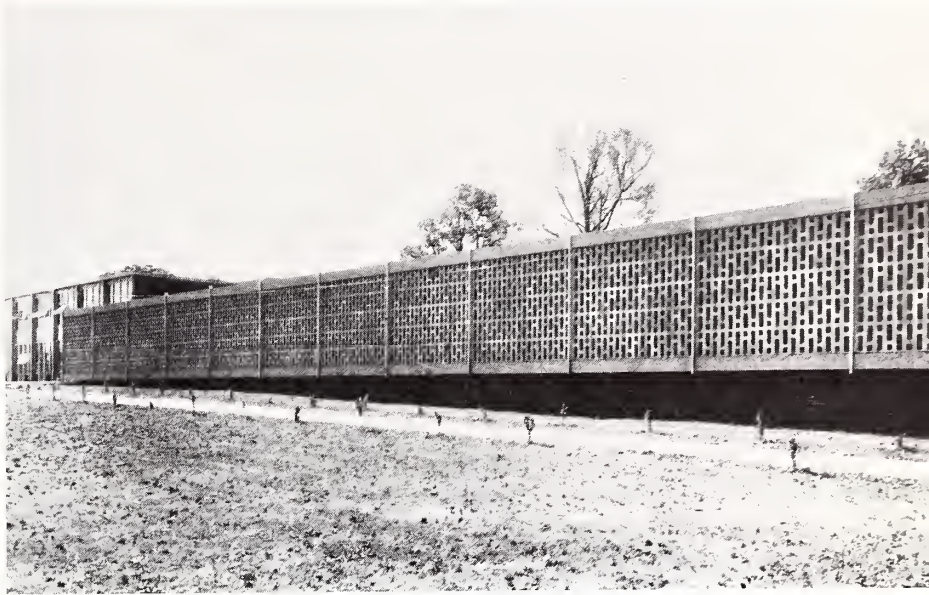

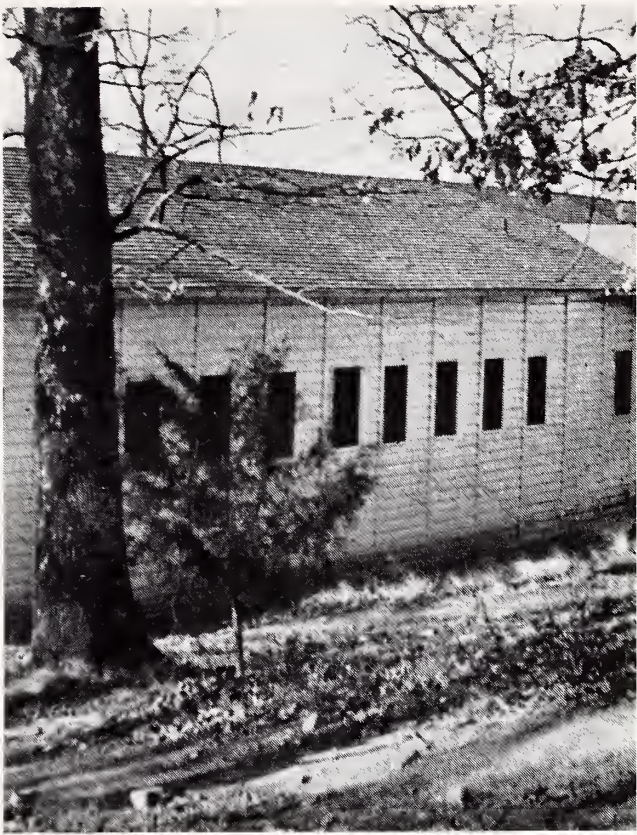

Even sophomores sometimes get sleepy in class.

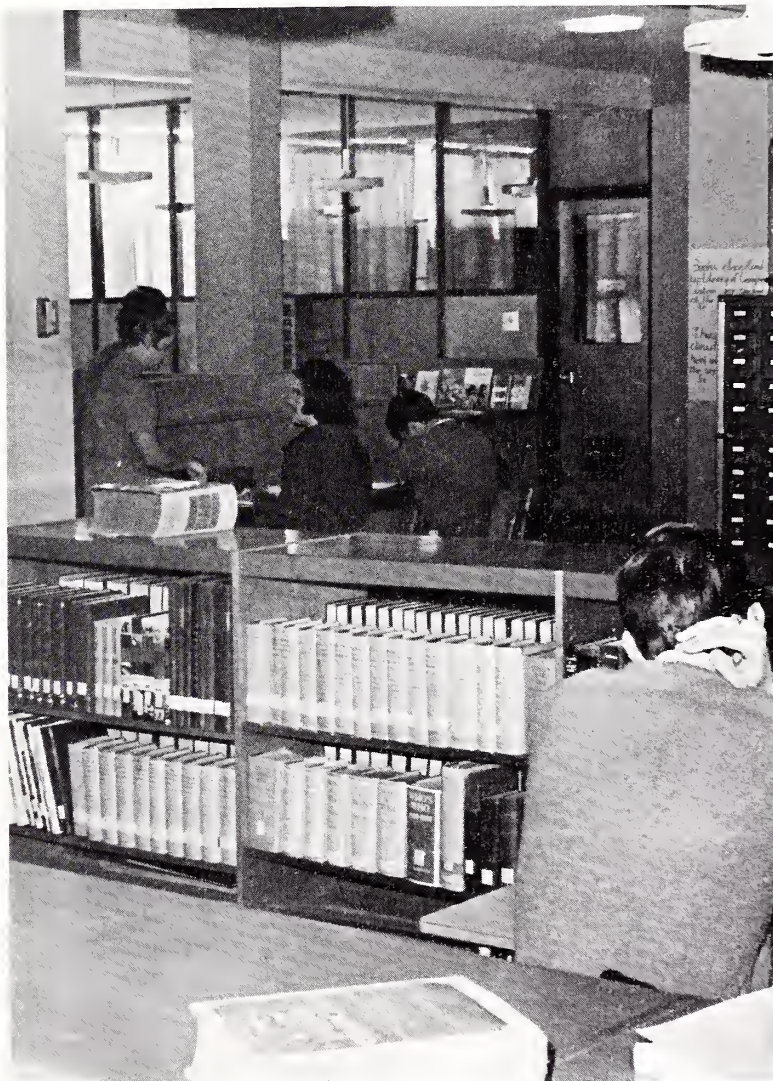

"Under the wise leadership of the trustees and the administration and with the provisions made by the South Carolina Baptist State Convention, North Greenville began to take on a new look. Some new buildings were erected to replace the out-dated, inadequate ones of earlier years."

"Long-range plans were brought forward for continued improvement and expansion of the facilities of the school." In the planning, the administrators indicated a strong belief in the continuing demand for education in a Christian environment.

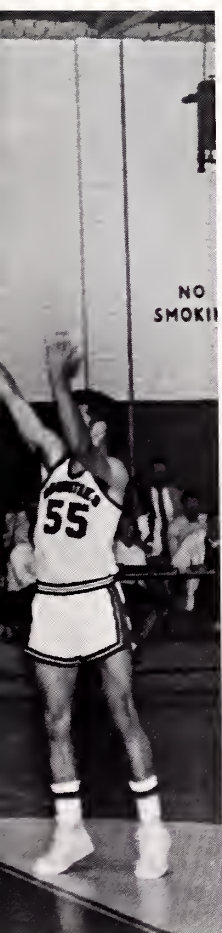

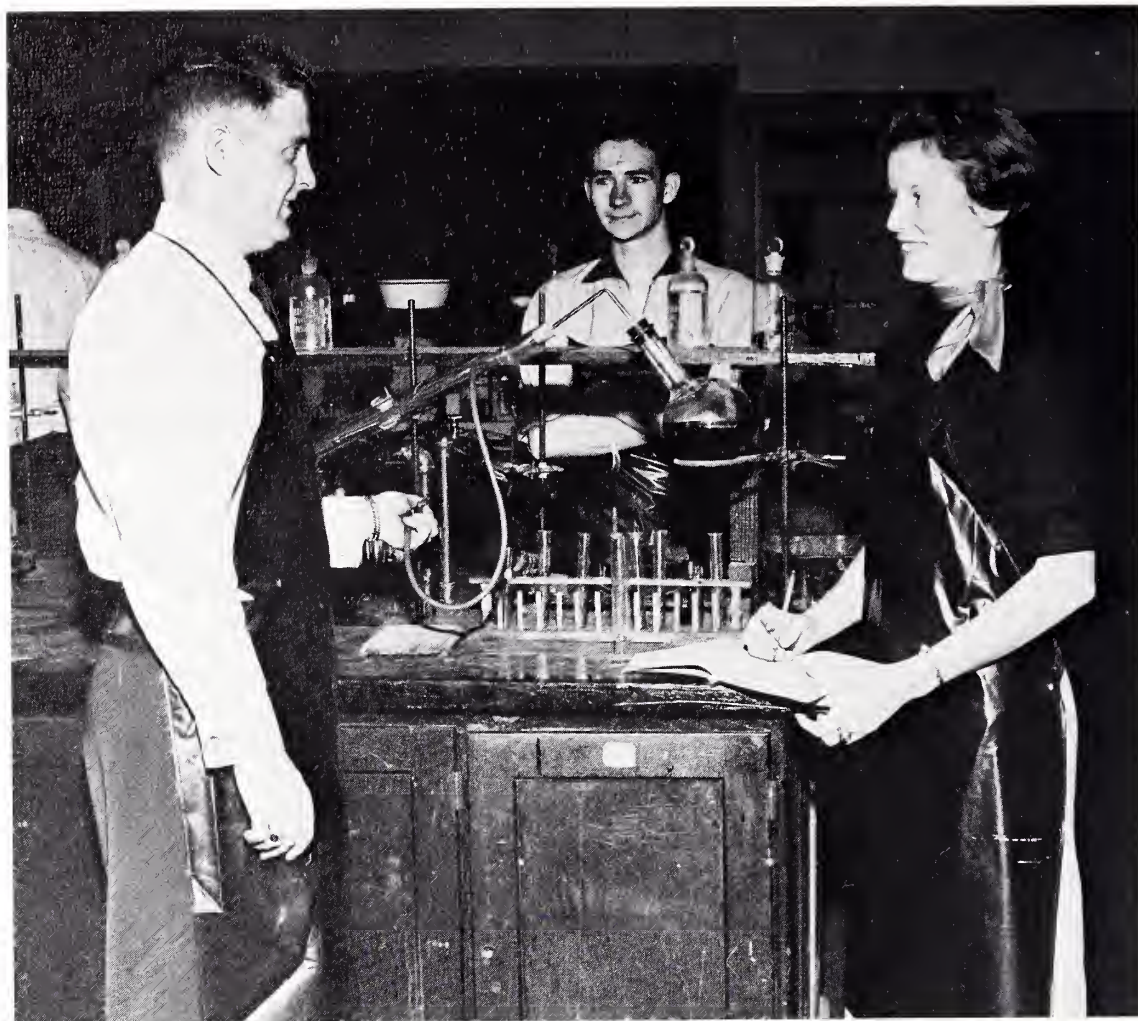

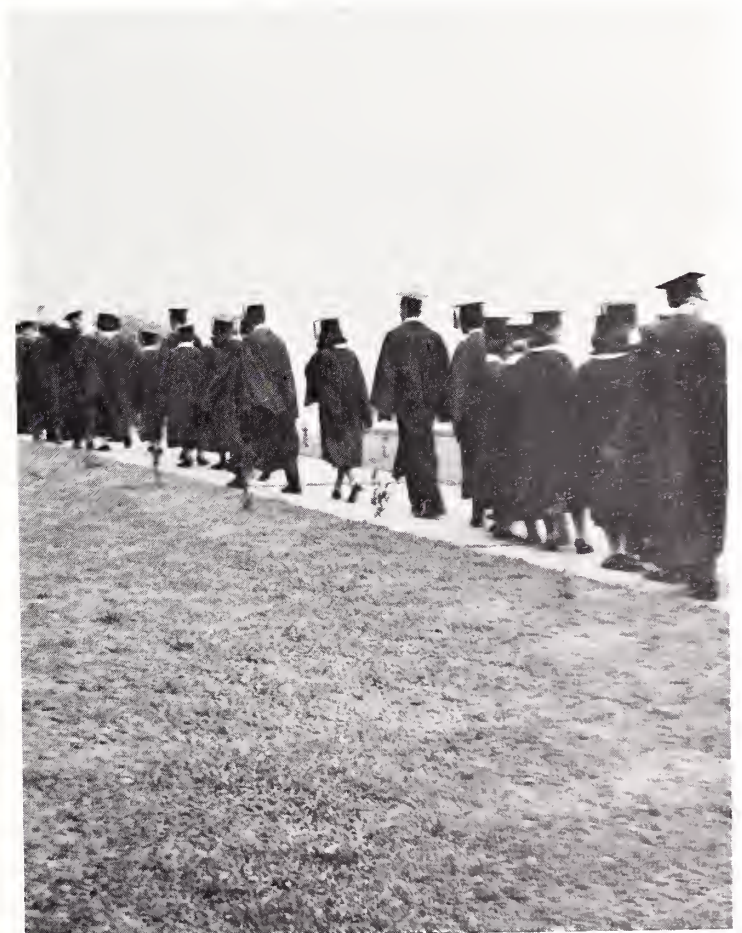

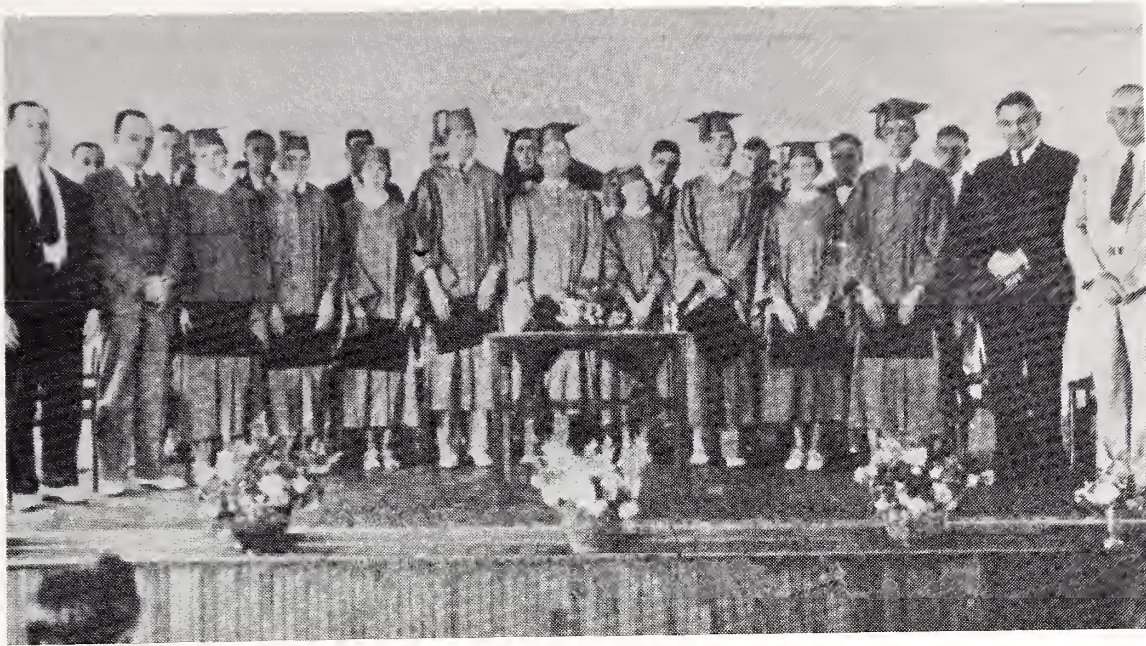

"In addition to the new appearance of the campus and buildings, higher academic standards prevailed also. The "tree" showed definite signs of approaching maturity."

The physical appearance of the campus has changed greatly; however, the unusual opportunities for academic training and the excellent privilege of spiritual development have not diminished. Despite the storms, the "tree" grows stronger and more vigorous.

Each year is a new experience, and each moment of our lives brings discovery which changes the ordinary into the extraordinary.

The 1970 Aurora is finally completed. There were many times when the staff became depressed and afraid that we would not meet our deadlines, but with the cooperation and willingness of each member, the Aurora has become a reality.

In this book, we have tried to present to the students of North Greenville Junior College a realistic view of the past year.

We should like to thank Dean Henry J. Howard for allowing us to use his book, From These Roots, for our theme and guideline in order that we might contrast some of the history of North Greenville with the present.

Also, to Keys Printing Company, we extend our deepest thanks for their patience and understanding as we attempted to produce a successful yearbook. For pictures we are indebted to Rawlins-Allen Studios, Simpson's Photo Service, David Richards, Archie Stevens, and the Greenville News. To Mrs. Veda Sprouse, our sponsor, who has worked with us continuously without complaint, we thank for being so considerate and helpful. Finally, to the entire faculty, administration, and staff, we express our deep appreciation for being so cooperative.

In closing, I should like to thank each student for giving me the honor of editing the 1970 Aurora, which has been one of the most memorable and important experiences in my life.

Donna Jones
Editor

Many people think that the advertising section of the yearbook is just pages on which to sign autographs. However, this section is just as much a part of the yearbook as any other section, financially and otherwise. Advertising involves much hard work and the cooperation of many people.

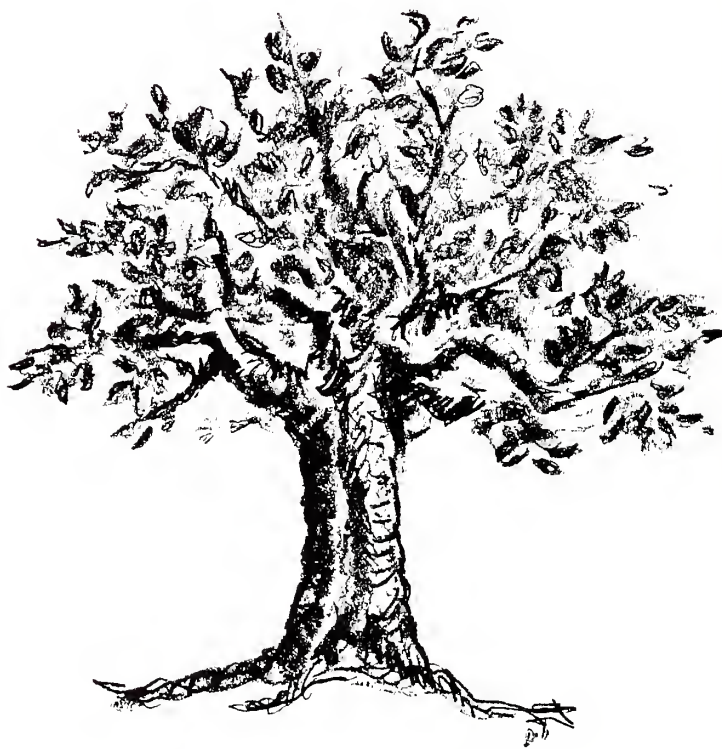

To begin with, I should like to thank the businesses and organizations that have supported our yearbook. The financial support of these places has made it possible for the Aurora to have an advertising section, and has also made it possible for the yearbook to be a successful business endeavor.

To the advertising team, I sincerely thank you for the time and effort that you have spent in helping make the Aurora's advertising possible. Your enthusiastic participation made selling ads fun as well as work. Also, I extend appreciation to the clerical staff for helping to keep accurate financial records. To any others who have helped to make the Aurora's advertising possible, I sincerely thank you.

Most of all, I want to thank you, the students of North Greenville, for giving me this opportunity to serve you as Business Manager of the yearbook. Thank you for your support and co-operation in helping make our 1970 Aurora not only an advertising success but also a yearbook of which we can always be proud.

Nan Neves
Business Manager

ADVERTISEMENTS

"A college can be no stronger than its financial foundations. Through the sacrificial efforts of many devoted persons — trustees, faculty, and friends — the "tree" was kept alive."

The textile industry is as exciting and dynamic as tomorrow and we think Woodside Mills reflects this excitement, this tone of progress — of looking toward tomorrow while efficiently working today. We are indeed proud of our textile history and we are confident of the future.

Job satisfaction, security and prosperity are realities at Woodside. Why not discuss your future with us?

Alma Mater

At the foothills of the mountains
 'Neath the azure sky,
Stands our noble Alma Mater
 As the years go by.

Excelsior is our motto.
Greatness without fail.
Hail to thee, Our Alma Mater,
Hail, North Greenville, Hail!

For our ideals and traditions
 Praises still are rung,
Cherished as in yesterday
 When our school was young.

When in pleasure and in trials
 We depart from thee,
Worthy sons and worthy daughters
 May we prove to be.
